

Laird Green, 13 April 1841.

My dear boy,

The Regina has put back, in want of a heavier cargo, and, as I have heard, has taken our Goods from Bristol & Liskeard; that is, the remainder. I heard of this by accident, but I could find neither Saunders nor Haswell. However, I left at their Office a written order to send you a Bill of Lading of Regina of the extra Goods shipped.

Of course you will choose, if possible, in preference to all others, a section with a water-course for the Mill. Next to that, I prefer a town-section with the Boulevard in front for my own house; and it would be best to choose several sections so that they may be adjoining a high road, and as much adjoining to each other as possible, to make them an estate in a ring-fence, which must be, unless other considerations intervene, more valuable.

It seems probable that the next Ship will not sail till June. All goes on well. Broadmore is engaged to accompany me. I have employed him to examine Huxham's Invoines, and I intend to go on Friday to Powderham, to consult with him on various matters regarding Huxham and the Mill. I have sold this cottage for £225.

Tomorrow I shall wish myself many happy returns of the Day in New Zealand. Your affectionate father, Jas. Brown.
